A P2P home-cooked meal exchange platform

Many struggle to find time to cook, while others enjoy plenty. MealHub is a peer-to-peer local-meal sourcing platform that connects busy and/or cash-strapped people in search of affordable, home-cooked meals (Mouths) to those with interest in monetizing their kitchens and culinary skills (Chefs). Mouths interested in purchasing meals will be able to search for Chefs by location. Chefs will advertise the meals they are willing to provide, as well as meals they have currently available. Chefs can post information such as ingredients, number of servings, price, and availability time for each meal they cook. Mouths will be able to rate Chefs and individual meals based on their eating experiences. All financial transactions will be negotiated and conducted independently between the Mouths and Chefs. The MealHub platform will provide Mouths access to rare authentic food from a diverse range of cultures and ethnicities without paying restaurant premiums and provide Chefs access to a marketplace without investing in full scale restaurants.
